

Python is a popular programming language used for web development, data analysis, and artificial intelligence.